The Road Journal

A free printable for side quests, from Explorer's Bay

Welcome

Life can be hard. This journal is a small escape, a break from the noise.

This journal is here to help you find time for an adventure, or a side quest or two. You don't have to go far. Any day can be one.

Enjoy the journey.

Choose your quest

Pick a quest. Work out what you'll need, or what you'd love to see. Capture the moment, play a little, and think about how it went.

Checklist

Two lists to fill in: what to pack, and places, landmarks and things to do.

List name

List name

Quest log

Print pages 6 and 7 together, as many times as you like.

Where

Date

Why this quest?

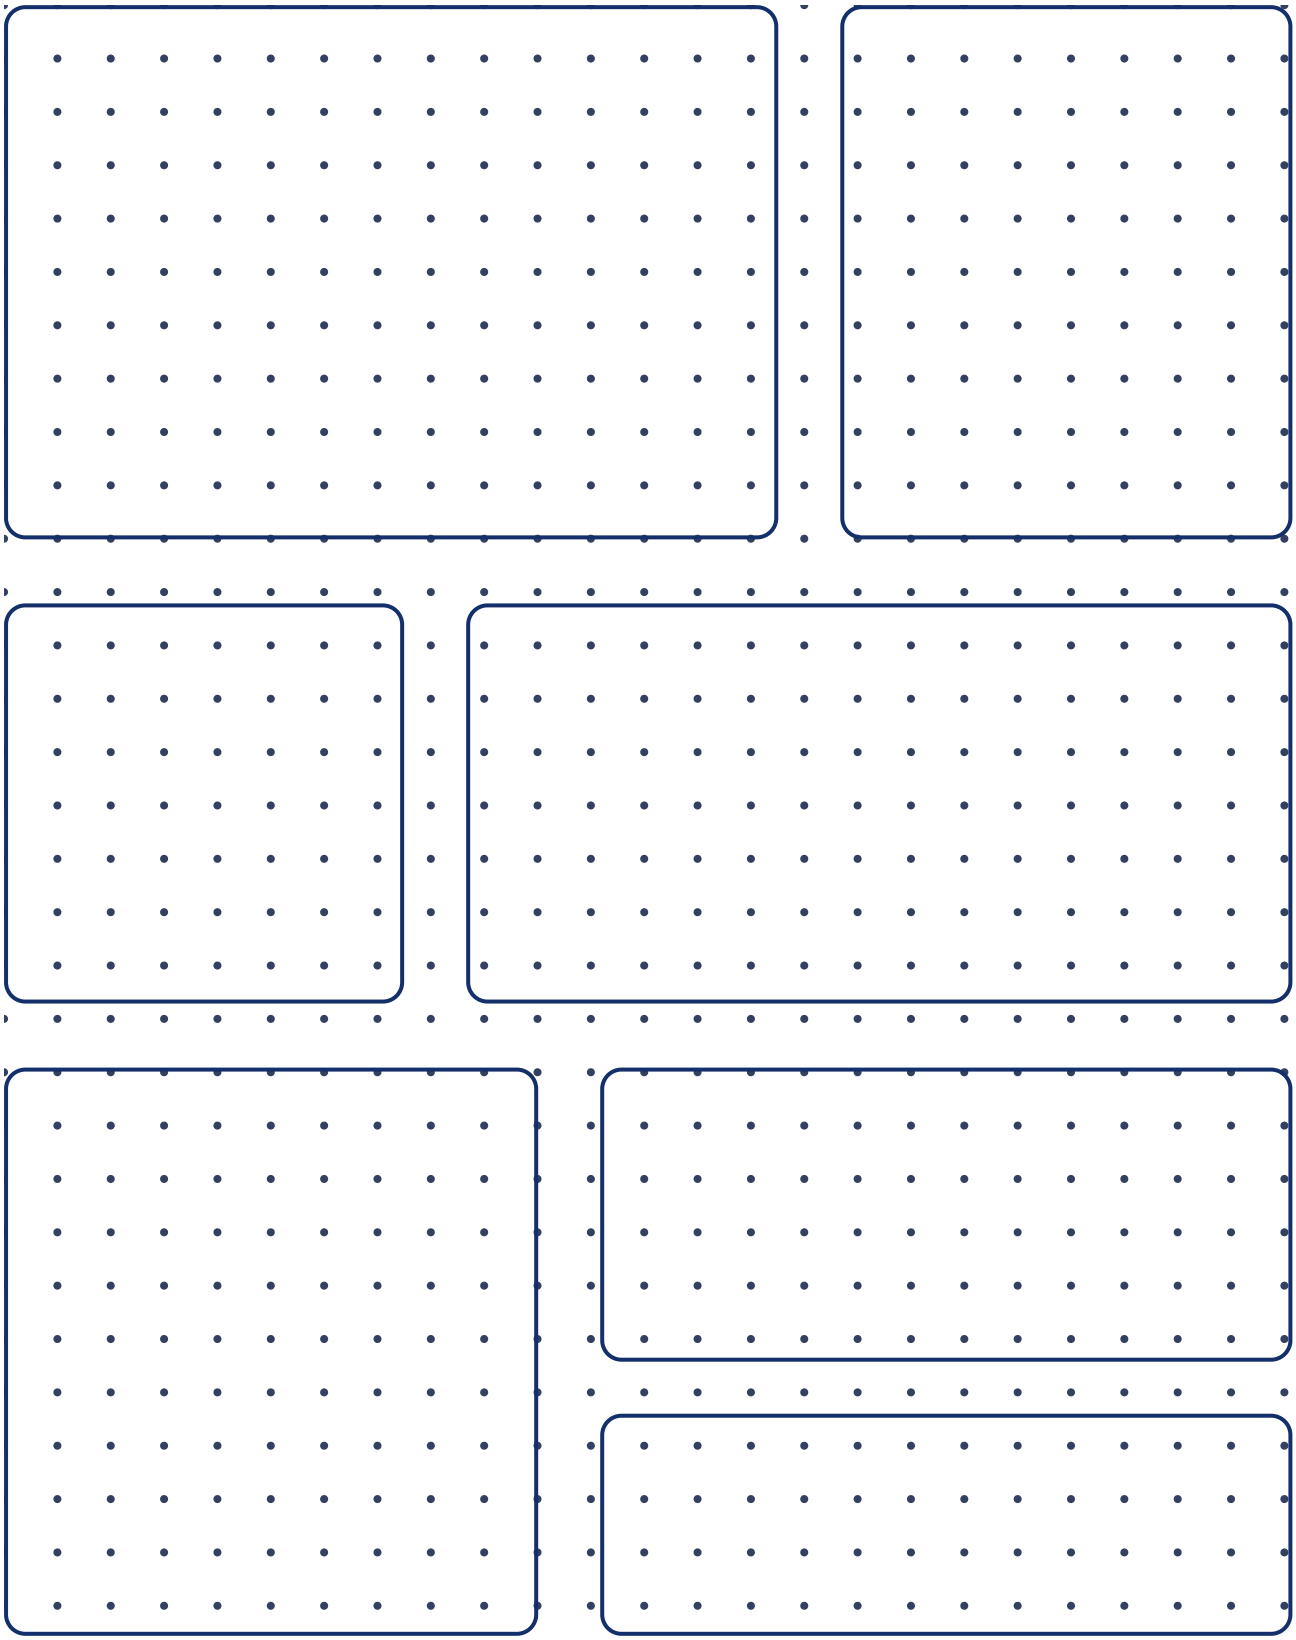

What you saw

What surprised you

What made it memorable

Stick it here

A ticket, a leaf, a photo, a drawing. Anything from the quest. If you plan to share a photo online, leave out other people's faces.

A lesson from the quest

The quest, your best memory, and a story you'd share.

What was the quest?

Best memory?

What story would you share?

Anything to look out for?

Quest list

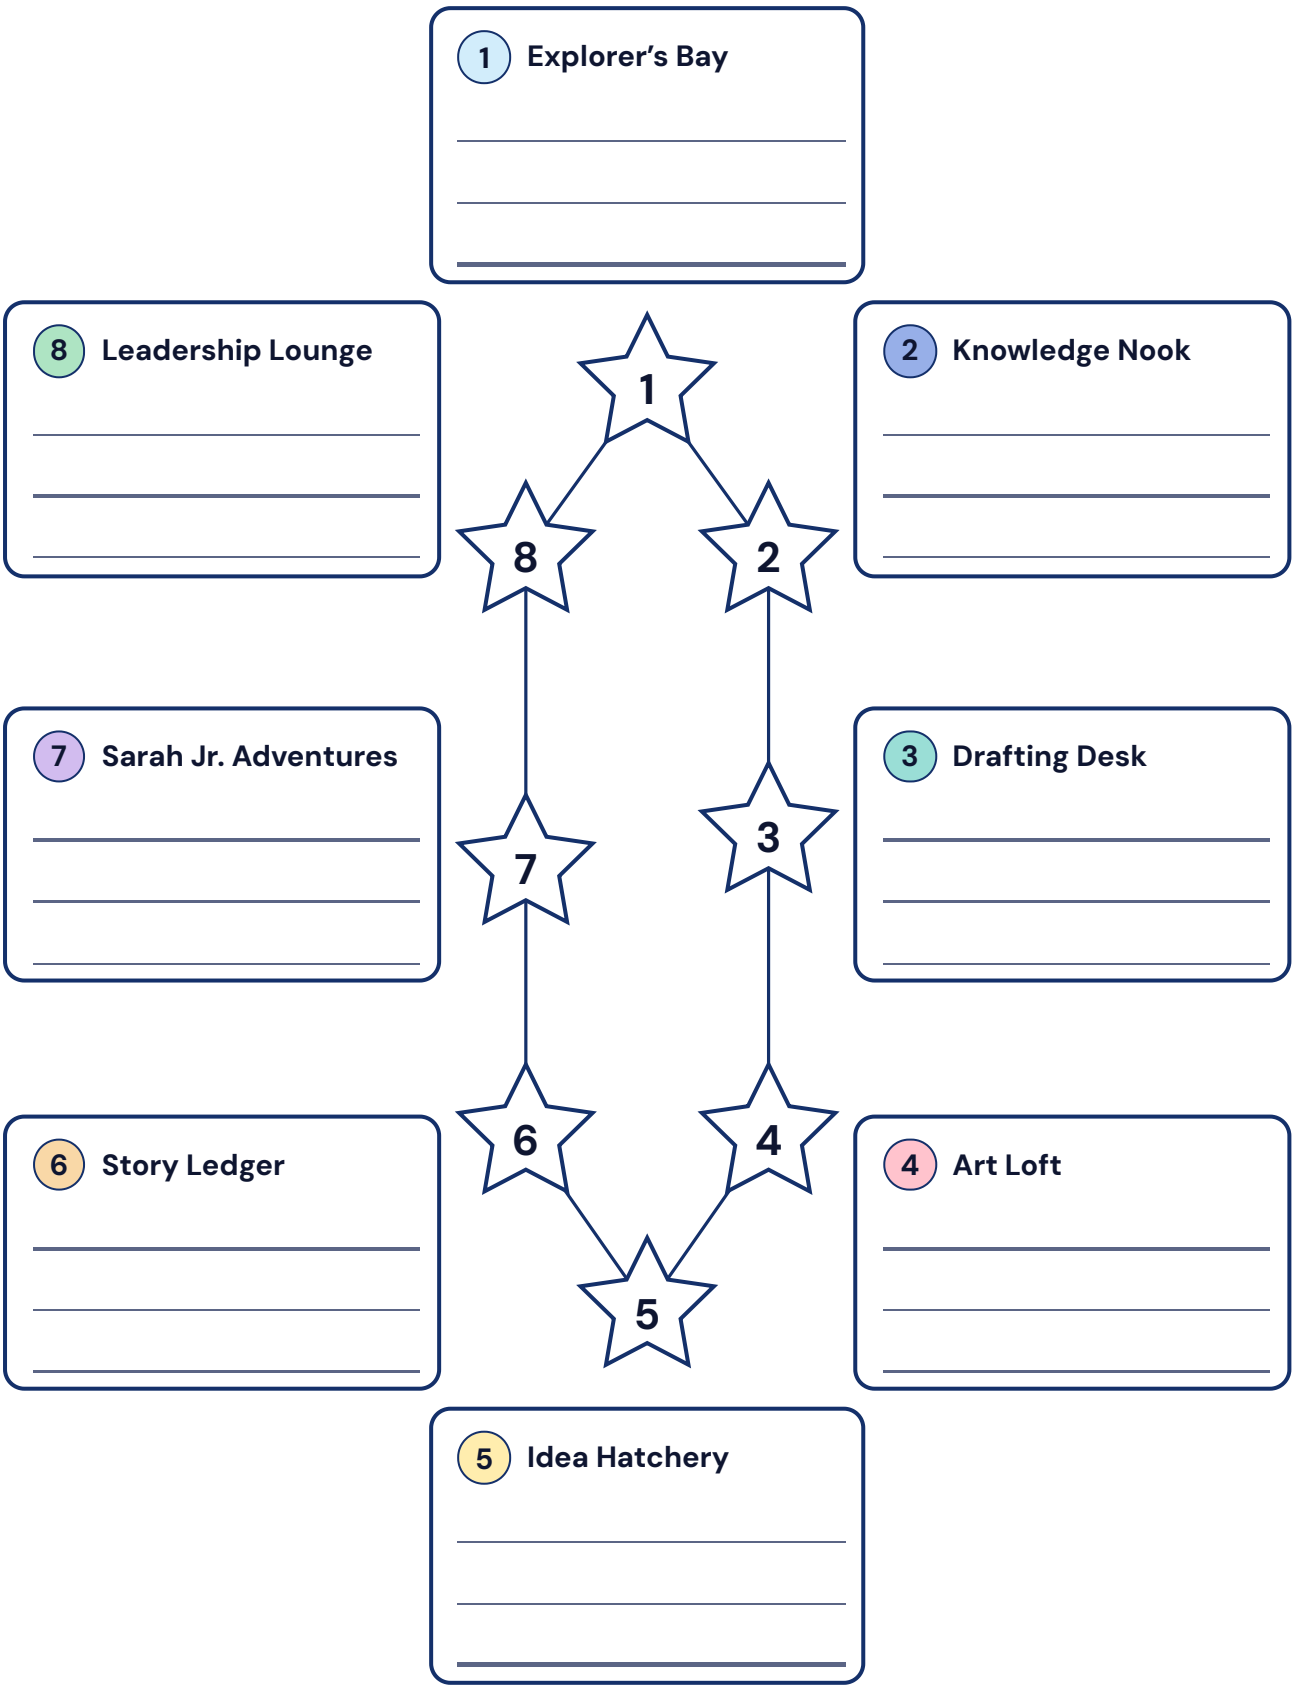

Tick each quest off. Add the date and quest; the room is optional.

Quest map

Write your quests in the numbered boxes. Colour each star when you finish a quest.

Wrong turns, good stories

Wrong turns can make the best stories. Write yours down.

Did you accidentally end up on a random side quest?

What happened?

Was it memorable?

What's funny about it now?

Quests I'd like to try

Write the quests you want to try next.
